

Principal Imaging Engineer - Motorola Mobility (A Google company)

Basic Qualifications - Years of Experience: 5+years

Scope of Responsibility/Expectation:

The candidate would be responsible for system level camera architecture and development of block diagrams and schematics. They would support the development by designing and documenting the camera configuration to make sure all the parts of the system work together, including interfaces and configuration of the interfaces, electrical compatibility, and design. The individual would also support bring up, trouble shooting and validation of the system. They would drive documentation of the system design.

Specific Knowledge/Skills:

Candidate must have strong development skills, a background in EE and the ability to update schematics and read layouts. Must have a strong development methodology. Should have some understanding of embedded SW and firmware for the purpose of system bring up. The candidate must have good organizational skills, attention to detail, and strong documentation skills. Previous experience with MIPI is a plus

Contact:

Sean Kelly
Vice President of Imaging
Motorola Mobility
seankelly@motorola.com
585-750-9078 (c)
847-523-4118 (o)