

Apple Inc. – Color Imaging Scientist

From: Andrew Bai <ybai@apple.com>

I am at Apple Inc. now working in the camera area. We are looking for full time candidates in the color imaging area in general, who are interested in working on image signal processing pipeline for cameras. PhD candidate is preferred.

I will visit RIT campus on 3/28 with Apple corporate recruiting team, and will spend a full day on 3/29 talking with CIS students exclusively. They can send me the resume to my company email address, preferably by this Friday, March 23.

Thank you very much.
