

Todd R. Hanneken, Ph.D., is Director of the Jubilees Palimpsest Project and Chair of the Department of Theology at St. Mary's University in San Antonio, Texas. He specializes in the ancient books excluded from the Jewish Bible. His expertise begins with ancient languages and literature and extends to the scribal media by which they are preserved and the modern technologies that recover access to ancient writings for scholars today. His work has been supported by the National Endowment for the Humanities.
